

THE STEINWAY LYNGDORF MODEL S-SPEAKER SYSTEM

2013 Is starting off with a blast of excitement at Phoenix Unequaled Home Entertainment, and for the Steinway Lyngdorf brand, who manufacture some of the best sounding speaker systems in the world. With the recently released results for this year's 2013 Editor's Choice Award from The Absolute Sound Magazine, the Model S-System is still blowing the minds of listeners who have spent time with this system.

Since its debut in 2011 the Steinway Lyngdorf Model S-Speaker System has been extremely well received among the different audiophile magazines. Even a few outside of the industry, have been amazed by the incredible sound that's achieved. Anyone not familiar with Peter Lyngdorf, would associate the name Steinway and Sons with the finest pianos manufactured in the world and not an audiophile quality music system. The partnership with Peter Lyngdorf and Steinway began back in 2007, when the high quality piano maker gave Peter Lyngdorf the exclusive rights to manufacture the highest quality sound systems possible. The first system created under the Steinway Lyngdorf name was called the Model D which shares its name with the concert grand piano in the Steinway family of musical instruments. (The Model D made its debut in 2007 and sold for $ 155,000.00 US dollars which has been increased over the years to a current price of $188,000.00 US dollars.)

Currently there are three different speaker systems manufactured by Steinway Lyngdorf, also named after the different pianos in the Steinway musical instrument family, the Model C, M and the S-Systems. Since its release in 2011, the Model S system is the first system manufactured by Steinway Lyngdorf that can be obtained without being a member of the million dollar club or a new TN Lottery winner. The Model S System entry level pricing is at $22,000.00 US dollars making the S System a true bargain for someone who really appreciates great music reproduction. It's no wonder the praises and accolades keep coming in.

One of my favorite quotes is from the July 2, 2011 issue of the Wall Street Journal...
"$22,000.00 Speakers That Could Save Your Marriage", the title of an article written by Michael Hsu.

This could easily be true since this system won't require room-consuming amounts of audio gear and monoliths for speakers that are normally used in audiophile sound systems.

Honestly, don't take my word or the magazines reviews. Schedule your own personal seat time with the Steinway Model S-System in the Phoenix studio and you too can be blown away by these little gems. Bring your music with you and experience it in a completely new way!
